CELLS

Original title: CELLS

Martin Uit den Bogaard (67) is one of the world's top 10 bio-artists. He's a simple man with a far from simple plan. His quest is to get his hands on a new human body part to use in his work, while he wrestles to obtain the rights to his own body for his ultimate and final piece which will come only after his death. It is his personal struggle, since our bodies become state property when we die. Uit den Bogaard illustrates through his work, not that there is life after death, but rather that there is life in death.
