

Apple Cider Vinegar

Original title: Apple Cider Vinegar

A narrator of nature documentaries returns to the screen after years of absence. A recent kidney stone operation has made her realise that she has never told the story of the stones and rocks beneath living things. Humans and stone seem so distant, yet like a volcano we are making new landmass inside our bodies. She departs on a journey in search for the secrets of stone. What starts as a story about humans and stone, slowly unfolds into a meditation on ecological grief.
