

Blackout

Original title: Black-out

A nuclear plant in Belgium is sabotaged during winter causing a nationwide blackout. The power grid is down and the country relies on prime minister Annemie Hillebrand to handle this crisis. Moments before the blackout the prime minister received footage of her daughter who appears to be held captive, with a message: "If the lights turn back on, your daughter dies." She can only let one person in on her secret... A man she can trust: Michael Dendoncker, head of the Counter Terrorism Unit.
