

Eric and the Land of Insects

Original title: Erik of het kleine insectenboek

10-year-old Eric has to make a presentation at school, but he still does not have a subject. His grandfather - who has helped look after the boy since Eric's father passed away - offers to help. Together they look at an old painting about the world of insects. Later that night Eric goes to look at the painting again and suddenly gets drawn into it. Being tiny himself now, he lives among the insects for one long night. He finds out a lot about the small animals, but also about life itself and how to come to terms with it.
