

Libertad

Original title: Libertad

After a long time apart, the Vidal family has decided to reunite in its summer house on the Costa Brava, to spend a 'last summer' with grandmother Angela, who suffers from Alzheimer's disease. For the first time in her life, Nora, 14, can't find her place in the family dynamic. She is too old to play with the kids, but she doesn't belong with the adults either. Everything changes when Libertad arrives. She is the teenage daughter of Rosana, the Colombian caregiver who works for the family, looking after Angela. Rebellious and beautiful, Libertad becomes Nora's only source of excitement and adventure, and the two girls quickly form a dangerous and uneven friendship.
