

No Police

Original title: No Police

He once was a young god but has now turned into a tired taxi driver. She, once a beauty, now has put on a mass of weight and is a cleaning woman. She's fallen in love with her boss : an ambassador. When they get invited to his birthday party by mistake, she's in the seventh heaven whereas he would do anything to prevent them getting there on time, trying to save her from disappointment. It seems he's lucky. Driving to the party, they knock down a pedestrian, who is also heading for the party. Why is this man trying to escape all the time, when they're only trying to get him to a hospital ? And what is hidden in the gift-wrapped pack that he leaves behind after he succeeds in getting away ? The answer might hurt your ears.
