

Our City

Original title: Our City

A kaleidoscopic portrait of Brussels against the backdrop of situations, people and places that bring to life this little-known but vivid city. This is Brussels, the capital of Europe: a city of concrete cages wrapped in glass, planned by businessmen and politicians, set in motion by construction workers and animated by office people. But there, in the narrow spaces just beyond the reach of bureaucracy, lies the Brussels that still breathes. You can hear its multicultural heart beating and see the traces of all the other cities; the ones each person carries within him/herself. All of us together combine to create the complex body and dissonant identity of Our City.
