

Paper Butterflies

Original title: Paper Butterflies

A short film about a terrace on top of Monte Brè, Switzerland, a remarkable place that attracts people from all over the world to view the landscape: Monte San Salvatore in front, the Alps far away and below the beautiful Lugano Bay. Thomas Bogaert collected 200 postcards that people sent from here and used the front side as the handwritten text to start a nostalgic cinematic evocation. Then he travelled there himself to film the terrace and the landscape with his Nikon Super 8. This experimental and intuitive approach brings the postcards back to life.
