

PROBE

Original title: PROBE

Probe' - noun, an unmanned exploratory spacecraft designed to transmit information about its environment. Cinema is a virtual capsule with a projection screen as a window, which gives access to an audio-visual trip through time and space. As soon as the film starts the projection surface becomes invisible. It becomes the magic window of the cinema capsule that engages the whole body through the eyes and ears, and abducts you to another time and space.
