Original title: Zaad

When his father dies, filmmaker Dries Meddens begins to delve into his past. But the more he discovers, the less he can avoid the growing fear that his father's psychiatric illness is hereditary, from grandfather to father to son. Is the germ of manic depression in him? In his children? Through family archives, exchanges with a psychiatrist and his life as a stay-at-home dad, Dries searches for a way out of this possible genetic fatality.
