

The Bunker

Original title: De Bunker

The Antwerp team of the Belgian National Security Service operates from the bunker, a secret underground headquarters. As field service officers, the secret agents collect information 'in the field' to prevent major threats or disasters before it's too late. This threat can come from all sides: the extreme left, extreme right, terrorism, economic espionage, cyber crime, cults etc. A huge amount of responsibility rests on the team, and the agents - because of internal secrecy policies - often have to rely on one another. Their bond is strong, but the pressure is even stronger.
