

The Jacket

Original title: The Jacket

The Jacket is a portrait of Jamal Hindawi, a Palestinian who lives in exile with his family in the Shatila Refugee camp in Beirut. Together with his friends, he makes political theatre about their profound connection to their homeland, Palestine, and their situation as refugees in their country of residence, Lebanon. When Jamal sets out to find an important lost theatre prop, he witnesses how successive political and economic crises have disrupted an entire region and its people.
