

To Walk Again

Original title: To Walk Again

Obsessed with becoming the fastest and strongest athlete on the face of the earth, top sportsman Marc Herremans' career took a dramatic turn on January 28, 2002, when he was injured in a bike crash and left paralysed from the chest down. Two months later, he resumed his training with the goal of attending the Iron Man in Hawaii, this time as a wheelchair athlete. We follow the impressive route Marc has taken between his accident and his arrival at the Iron Man in October 2006. In his search for luck, love and the dream to walk again some day, one thing remains paramount in his life: never give up...
