

Where Despair Flourishes and Gallows Reign

Original title: Waar wanhoop bloeit en galgen staan

Over one day, this documentary movie explores the human being in the last stage of his life. With the longing for bygone times, we become absorbed in a world where the clock has stopped. We see the struggle with loss, sorrow and loneliness. Insanity and death are on the doorstep. How do we react to this as human beings? Is there resignation or do we cling to an illusion that vanishes like sand in our hands? The film is, without being any accusation or social statement, a subjective mirror of the filmmakers. It is an effort to come to grips with the unavoidable reality and the ruthlessness of it.
