

White Skin Closed Eyes

Original title: White Skin Closed Eyes

The short documentary White Skin Closed Eyes revolves around the work of the Belgian artist Berlinde De Bruyckere and the people that surround her. The artist is known for her timeless, fragile sculptures in which she surpasses perishability. The film confronts the approach of the assistants with the dead material. We are in between reality and imagination; between living and dead matter. When an animal dies, a new work is born.
